Your duty of disclosure is continuing

(to be completed in all cases)

Please read carefully.

When you completed your application for insurance, we explained why it is very important for you to comply with your duty of disclosure by providing us with accurate information. This duty of disclosure continues until the time when your policy is issued. If your policy has not yet been issued, you still have a duty to provide us with any additional information, including details of any changes since the time your application form was completed. If you are applying to make any change to your policy, you are also required to comply with your duty of disclosure.

As explained in the application form, your duty of disclose requires you to us all information about you, your personal circumstances and history to allow us to accurately assess the insurance we can provide to you. This is material information relevant to your application for insurance. Material information is information which might influence our decision to insure you and the terms and amount of premium which applies to your insurance policy. The information you need to tell us depends on what you are applying for. Typically, it includes information about your background, occupation, medical history and current health, personal habits and finances. There may be other types of material information about you which should also be disclosed.

You meet your duty of disclosure by providing us with complete and correct answers to all the questions that we ask, and by telling us anything else that might be material, even if we don't specifically ask you about it.

The policy owner(s) and the person to be insured must tell us if the person who is or is to be insured has had a change in their personal circumstances which would mean that the answers to any of the questions given in the original application form are no longer completely true and correct.

It is important that you have answered all questions accurately in the application form and in this Declaration of Continued Good Health, even if you need to go away and find the information from other sources, or if you need to advise us of a correction needed to a previous answer.

Risks to you from non-disclosure

If you don't provide us with accurate or complete information, even if you accidentally provide inaccurate information, you may be affected in the following ways:

- Claims that you make under the policy may not be paid;
- Your insurance policy may be cancelled or treated as if it never existed;
- You may not be able to obtain other insurance in the future;
- You could experience other financial hardship.

If you are unsure about whether you should disclose something it is always safer to advise us or call our Customer Service Team on 0800 737 101 to check.

I declare that the answers given above are, to the best of my knowledge, true and that I have not withheld any material information that may influence the assessment or acceptance of this application. I have read and understood the duty of disclosure described above, and acknowledge it is my responsibility to ensure I have provided all material information whether that information has been specifically requested or not.
